We will investigate the ways in which women have functioned as agents of historical change, as their lives and actions have both impacted and been impacted by major historical events. Particular attention will be paid to the changing nature of the family, changes to the work women did (both paid and unpaid), and the involvement of women in social and political reform. We will also investigate the diversity of women's experiences in the past. Just as today, "women" cannot be spoken of as a monolithic block; women throughout America's history have been divided and often had difficulty uniting across lines of class, race, and ethnicity. GCP Coding: (ROC) (CRI).

HIST 2380 The American West: Film, Fiction, and Reality (3)

This course examines the settlement of the American West as well as the role that the region has played in American culture throughout the country's history. Students will learn about the history of the West as a region for the earliest days of European exploration through the 20th century. Particular attention will be paid to the late 19th century, when western expansion was at its peak. We will examine western expansion from the perspectives of both American settlers and the Native Americans already living in the region. Students will learn about the diversity of the West throughout its history, and how the "Old West" of cowboys and gunslingers was only part of the story. We will also discuss the reasons why the popular perception of the "Old West" has lingered as a romanticized image in American culture. GCP Coding: (ROC) (CRI).

HIST 2390 Immigrant America (3)

This course examines the impact of immigration and ethnic and racial diversity on American society over more than two centuries. Topics include the changing sources of immigrants, the formation of ethnic communities, the process of "Americanization," the development of nativism, and the evolving law and public policy pertaining to immigration. GCP Coding: (ROC) (WCOM).
